Jobs Are There, But It Can Be Hard for Teens!

By DICK OSBORN

Where does a high school age youngster go to find a job for the summer?

The early birds have already picked off the choice worms—the jobs in the mountain resorts, and the counsellorships at area camps.

Another large group has gone to previously arranged jobs engineered by family and friends.

And where are the rest to go?

The first and most obvious place is the California State Department of Employment, which maintain offices in Pittsburg and at the Walnut Creek City Hall.

ACCORDING TO Manager Jack Flannery, there are plenty of jobs open right now for young men who want to work in the fields harvesting crops in the eastern part of the county. The only requirement for this job is a willingness to work and some form of transportation.

"The best bet for youngsters who want to try this is for them to show up at our office at 452 Railroad Avenue, Brentwood," said Flannery. "Usually if a boy shows up there at 7 a.m. he can go right to work in one of the fields, and then can repeat the process next day," he added.

THIS CAN BE a day-to-day existence, but many of the growers, when they find a youngster who pitches in and does a good job, prefer to keep him on and pay him by the week.

Flannery indicated that there would be enough crop jobs to provide a full summer's employment for any boy who is willing to do this kind of work.

Flannery said that there are occasional openings in other kinds of jobs, but that they are few and far between for the 16 or 17 year old.

Getting a little closer to home, there are plenty of gardening jobs, baby sitting positions, and other domestic "chores" by which our youngsters can make a little cash.

The key to success in this area, for many youngsters, has been the free classified ads offered by The Sun.

If a youngster is willing to work without pay, there are plenty of opportunities through the Volunteer Bureau of Contra Costa County for both boys and girls.

Mrs. Sigrid Salmon, director of the Volunteer Bureau, says there are openings for recreation assistants to help on the playgrounds, and in arts and craft work, especially in Lafayette and Walnut Creek.

THERE ARE ALSO myriad openings for office work, for both boys and girls, and there is a call from nearly all the non-profit agencies for various kinds of help.

"If any youngster has a particular kind of volunteer work he would like to do, we can frequently place him in a position where he can gain invaluable experience and training for the future," she said.

SHE ALSO POINTED out that there are many possibilities within the various church organizations for youngsters who will volunteer for Bible and day-camp work.

This about exhausts the possibilities for teen-agers in Central Contra Costa County.

The picture isn't rosy. For the youngster who is willing to fight with weeds in a garden, or pick crops in the fields, there are jobs. For the others, it is liable to be a long, long search.

School's Out, and Sun Again Offers Teen Ads

School's out, and lots of teenagers are still "unsettled" insofar as a summer occupation is concerned.

Lots and lots of youngsters have lined up steady employment to take care of them through the warm months, there are many who have not yet found the employment of their choice.

So, once again, The Sun is offering free work wanted classifiering free work wanted classified advertisements from teenagers during school vacation this summer as a part of a continuing program begun several years ago.

ANY TEENAGER is eligible. All you have to do is come into a Sun office at 1320 Locust Street, Walnut Creek, or 1001 Oak Hill Road, Lafayette, and place your ad.

Ads must be placed by teenagers in person by Friday at 3 p.m. in order to appear the following week in The Sun and Sun Shopping News.

Each ad will run for two weeks in the Sun Shopping News on Wednesday and The Walnut Creek Sun, Pleasant Hill Sun, Lafayette Sun and Orinda Sun on Friday.

ONLY ONE SERIES of ads will be accepted from any youngster and they will not be changed during the insertion time. The ads must contain the youngster's name and telephone number, as well as the kind of work which he (or she) is seeking.

Many youngsters, in the past, have found full summer employment through this program offered by The Sun.

County Adopts Gambling Curb Odinance

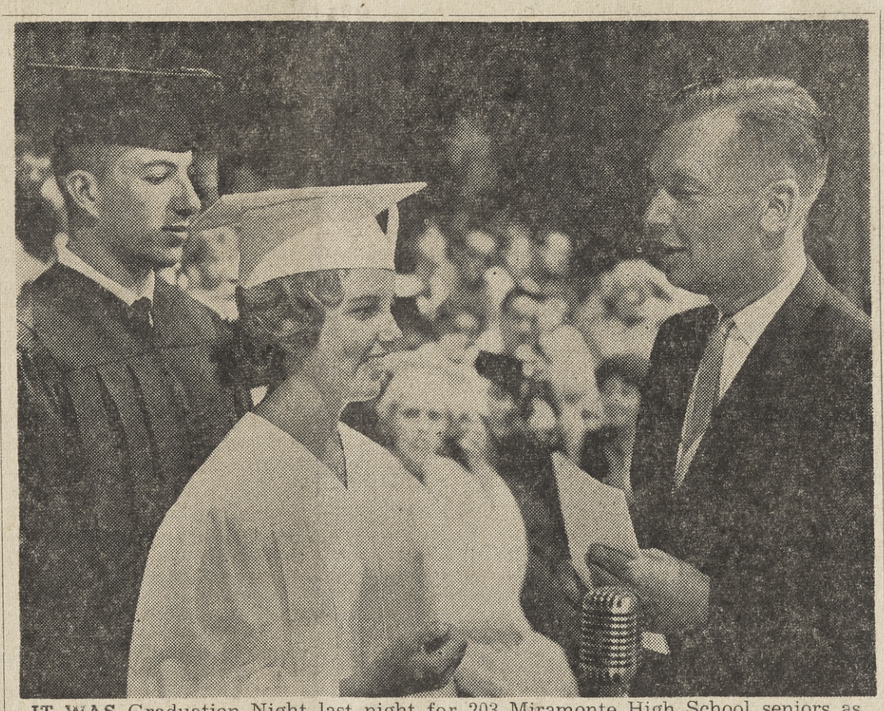
Card room and gambling controls suggested by District Attorney John A. Nejedly as part of the county's proposed uniform ordinance code were adopted Tuesday by the Contra Costa Board of Supervisors.

The new ordinance specifically regulates closing and opening times, licensing and location of card rooms where draw poker is played. (See Editorial page.)

APPEARING at the meeting to support the new gambling regulations which will replace County Ordinance 142, Undersheriff Harry Ramsey told the supervisors the law will be more easily interpreted by both sheriff's officers and card room owners.

An ordinance which will eventually put codification of county "blue laws."

laws into effect was also introduced by the board. Nejedly said the codification plan, started by his office last year, will eliminate ordinance duplication and do away with the county's archaic



IT WAS Graduation Night last night for 203 Miramonte High School seniors as 12 years of education drew to a close. Here, Principal James Lewis (right) presented the long-awaited diploma to Lonnie Anderson (center), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Anderson, Jr., 32 Moraga Via, as Frank Feldman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Feldman, 101 Hillcrest Drive, waits his turn. Following the ceremony, the seniors attended an all-night party at the Athens Athletic Club in Oakland.

County Budget Adoption Next Tuesday? June 28?

A 1960-61 Contra Costa County budget, reduced some $4½ millions from department proposals and only some $2 millions higher than the previous year, is nearly ready for final adoption.

The Board of Supervisors will hold a closed budget session Monday, delving into county hospital costs and other items, and it is hoped this will be perhaps the last such meeting.

The most optimistic possibility is that the budget may be ready for approval next Tuesday, but more likely is that it will wait until the following Tuesday, June 28, which is just before the "deadline".

THE SUPERVISORS in recent weeks have been whittling away at what once was a $44 million budget. Capital outlay items such as the second increment on the boys camp in Byron and several highway jobs have been eliminated.

The present figure, some $39,500,000, is a great deal closer to the adopted 1959-60 budget of $37,678,248.

Frank Fernandez, county associate staff analyist, said it is not possible now to estimate what will happen to the tax rate, which last year was $2.16, plus the library tax applied everywhere except Richmond, bringing the basic county tax to $2.28.

Two variables muddying the picture is the increased assessed valuation, which means that the same tax figure this year would bring in more money for the county, also the "ending balance" from last year, which becomes available money this year.

MEL NIELSEN, board chairman, said the county administrator's office had lopped some $1½ millions from the original $44 millions in requests, and the board had reduced that by another $3 millions, leaving $39½ millions.

Reductions by the board, Nielsen indicated, were effected by cutting back on capital projects generally and on appropriation requests made by the Probation Department, Social Service Department, Building Maintenance Department, Office of the Coun- Auditor-Controller, Public Works Department, Health Department, and Office of the County Sheriff.

Nielsen said that the county would have some additional income from sources other than property taxes and as the result of an estimated increase in valuation of somewhat in excess of 40 million dollars.

But a reduction in the carry-over balance for 1960-61, as compared to the carry-over balance for 1959-60 (due to the tight budget approved for 1959-60), was an offsetting factor for the additional income, he added.

NIELSEN said "Rigorous efforts will be made to hold new budget totals to the absolute minimum required for essential services and projects and that for this purpose the Board will continue its deliberations with department heads as long as necessary."

Nielsen added that actions by the Board would have to be paralleled by similar actions by other taxing jurisdictions over which the Board has no control if the total tax picture were to appear in the most favorable light for the fiscal year 1960-61.

Realtors Delay Golf Tourney and Barbecue

The annual Men's Day Golf Tournament and Barbecue, held by the Contra Costa Real Estate Board, has been postponed from June to September.

It will be held at the Round Hill Country Club.

At the board's breakfast meeting, Monday, Marvin Levin, an Oakland attorney, spoke on real property law as it pertains to investors tax programs.

It was also announced that classes for new real estate salespeople will resume today in the Real Estate Board building on Locust Street.

Orindans Vote For Fluoridation

Fluoridation was defeated by the voters of the East Bay Municipal Utility District in last week's primary election, but every one of Orinda's 37 precincts favored the measure by a considerable margin.

Complete returns from all precincts showed that Orinda residents voted for adding fluorides to the public drinking water by the margin of 3448 to 1904—very nearly 2 to 1.

Acalanes Tax Rate Will Probably Jump 3 Cents

Residents living within the boundaries of the Acalanes High School District can expect a three-cent tax increase on their 1960-61 tax bills.

District trustees, at their regular meeting at the administration building Monday night, estimated that the three cent increase, which would bring the tax rate to $1.83, would follow the acceptance of the proposed $3,180,591 budget.

THIS BUDGET represents an expenditure of more than 11 per cent above the current budget of $2,841,575.

Trustees explained that the tax rate is increasing in spite of the increased valuation of the district because, although the assessed valuation is up about six per cent, enrollment in the high schools is up some 12 per cent.

Current assessed valuation of the district is $96,023,205.

OPERATING TAX limit for the district is $1.75, legally. However, the district can also levy five cents on the operating tax rate for community service programs (such as adult education), and additional money for the district's contribution to employee retirement. This accounts for the $1.83 cent operating tax rate.

Actually, your tax bill reflects, presently, a rate of $2.279 which includes bond retirement payments. Thus your total Acalanes district tax next year should be $2.309.

A PUBLIC hearing is scheduled for August 1 on the budget.

Trustees also instructed the district architect to proceed with plans for two shops at Miramonte High School in Orinda for general wood and general metals work. The shops will be ready for the opening of school in the fall of 1961.

In other action trustees:

Heard an updated report from Stanford Education Consultants on future district enrollments and building needs. The revised Stanford Group study predicts an enrollment increase in local high schools of almost 60 per cent by the fall of the 1964 school — 6,060 secondary students as compared to this year's current enrollment of 3,793. The Stanford group recommendations include purchase of two additional high school sites as soon as possible.

Called for bid and equipment: 600 portable bleachers for Del Valle, 30 microscopes for Del Valle; pavement repairs on all district school sites; approved sale of used bus tire casings.

Approved installation of an outdoor coreboard at Las Lomas, gift of the Las Lomas senior class; approved a job description for classified district personnel; approved extension of the present facilities use agreement for summer by the Lafayette Youth Association.

Discussion on Proposal Scheduled for June 27

Public discussion of a proposal to develop the Pine Grove property for administrative and business offices has been postponed until the regular meeting of the directors of the Orinda Association on June 27.

Vic Kingston, president of the Orinda Association, said the matter was to have been considered at a special meeting of the directors Monday night, but that by mutual consent of the association, its planning committee and the Associated Investment Company, owners of the property, the meeting was postponed.

The planning committee reviewed the owners' plans for the property for the second time June 6. Richard Bartle, committee chairman, is to present his report to the directors for their decision at the public meeting.

COMPRISING 10½ acres on the northeast corner of the Crossroads and adjacent to the Pine Grove School site, the property is zoned A-O, meaning it is to be used for administrative offices.

Only three properties in the county are zoned under the strict ordinance, variances for which must become countywide unless special action is taken by the County Board of Supervisors. The other two properties are located at the Pleasant Hill Interchange in Lafayette and in Clayton Valley.

Associated Investment is asking for several variances in the property, and is asking for the support of the association before the requests are taken to the county level.

THE SUN LEARNED this week that the owners of the property are making several minor changes in their plans in order to comply with the requests of the association's planning committee.

Items still under consideration, according to the report, are land usage and a 25-foot setback requirement along the school property line.

The zoning ordinance calls for buildings to use only 15 per cent of the total land area, while the developers proposed land usage of about 25 per cent for the offices.

IN ADDITION, the company wanted to eliminate the required 25-foot setback next to the school buildings. The original plans had automobile parking for about 500 cars adjacent to the school fence.

School district officials listened to an explanation of the proposal by Kingston earlier this month, but the district's trustees have not acted on the matter.

Laurie Wilford Memorial Fund Is Established

Mrs. Elaine Whitmore, mother of 10-year-old Wilford, who died Monday at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek, has asked that contributions be made to the Laurie Wilford Memorial Fund in lieu of flowers.

The fund will be used to purchase equipment for the rescue unit of the Orinda Fire Department, and for the Orinda Library. According to friends, Laurie was a child who loved books and loved to read.

SERVICES were held yesterday at Forest Lawn in Los Angeles. Local arrangements were by Hull and Sons, Walnut Creek mortuary.

Laurie is survived by her mother; her stepfather, Edward Whitmore; a brother, Eric, 6; a sister, Cynthia, 13, all of 61 La Campana, Orinda, and her father, Edward Wilford of Los Angeles.

She had been a student at Sleepy Hollow School since kindergarten. Principal Mrs. Cynthia Scortt said the teachers had made a contribution to the fund.

LAURIE suffered burns over her entire body May 28 when a balloon her grandfather, Cranford Walker, was filling with gas exploded. Walker had planned an afternoon's entertainment for Laurie and Eric by sending the balloon aloft.

The grandfather suffered badly burned hands, but Eric was only slightly burned.

According to the office of Dr. W. M. Bogart, an autopsy revealed the cause of death to be severe burns.

Cake Icing Course Draws Solon's Ire

Assemblyman Samuel Geddes (D-Napa), chairman of the Assembly education committee, has asked for a comprehensive report on a cake frosting course being offered at the Acalanes Evening High School.

The request was made after state funds allocated for adult education schools came under fire at State Legislature subcommittee hearing in the Bay Area this week.

A PASADENA lawmaker, Assemblyman Bruce Reagan, called the cake decorating course "the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard of."

He said 103 adult students attended 120 hours of class meetings in the course during the past year.

"I've heard things about frill courses but I'd never believed it until now—120 hours for cake decorating, absurd," Reagan commented.

Stronger County 'Exec,' Fewer Elected Officials Asked

The County Taxpayers Association believes that the State of California should give top county administrators more power, like those of city managers, and several elective county offices should become appointive.

Harry L. Morrison, Jr., Association executive director, argued before the State Assembly Committee on Municipal and County Government, Wednesday in Sacramento.

Morrison said that Assembly Bill 2488 proposed last year provides for the office of "county executive" but he said the executive's powers enumerated are no greater than the existing "county administrative officer" post, or "county administrator."

THEREFORE, the bill is ". . . largely meaningless and would do nothing more than be redundant legislation concerning legal rights already existing."

Morrison listed the powers of the typical city manager, as prepared by the International City Managers' Association and indicated that they would be appropriate for a county executive who could bring efficiency and organization to the county structure.

Among the city manager's power: control over all departments . . . appoint, supervise and remove department heads . . . made recommendations . . . prepare annual budget . . .

Morrison said his Association's directors favor Assembly Bill 922 which provides for appointment, rather than election of county clerk, recorder, treasurer and tax collector.

ALSO FOR the consolidation of the auditor's office and the treasurer-tax collectors office into a "Department of Finance," and consolidation of the offices of county sheriff and judicial district constable.

Morrison said, "The directors feel that the appointment of most county officials, rather than direct election, organizes the county on a basis to permit it to operate quickly and with the greatest amount of ease.

"It also allows for greater citizen control because it centralizes responsibility in the board of supervisors and a few other elective officials, allowing less shifting of such responsibility . . ."

Morrison said his group favors legislation allowing the voters to decide if they want to make the office of county auditor-controller appointive, and designated director of finance.

HE ALSO said his directors in the past proposed legislation requiring all special districts in the county to file a copy of their budgets with the county auditor's office, because ". . . many special districts are now virtually without financial control . . ."

Morrison admitted that perhaps the cost of another proposal might be prohibitive. This was a requirement that all county tax collectors itemize the amount of taxes being assessed by each special district.

A modification adopted by Contra Costa, he said, is to break it down into county, city, school and special districts.

He said the four-way breakdown has ". . . created a great awakening among the citizens of which units of government are responsible for what they formerly considered as their 'county taxes'."

Gee, I'm jealous of the Peter Picards who jet to Tahiti next Mon. w/their children & taking along Joanne Titmus' dghtr. Marilyn . . . of the Darrell Brownings who just unpacked from Europe, of the Jack McLarens who are brushing up on the foreign exchange for their forthcoming fling, of Sally Stewart, the Edgar Stewart's lass who'll tour Europe leaving from NY . . . Of Carl & Vesta Rasmussen who are just home in time to tip off their dghtr. Karen on the global sights she MUST see!

Tues. being Flag Day, tsk, tsk, flags were scarce but you could hardly help whistling Yankee Doodle as you drove up Acacia Drive where Old Glory looked splendiferous waving from both the Flenner & the Killingsworth homes!

From under our Sun Hat!

SOMETHING for the Birds . . . The Orinda Community Church has arrived, now that the Swallows have taken over & set up housekeeping there . . . If Sev Schnugg ever writes a book about raising her big brood (10 so far & 1 forthcoming!) I have a suggestion for the title—"Please don't step on the babies" . . . When the U. S. Census taker called at the Schnuggs, the form had been filled out, but was incomplete—two were missing! So they all sat down, the children helped check the names carefully & w/everyone's cooperation, the missing names were found & filled in—on an additional form, the Census just not prepared for that many. (The census taker was even invited to join in a peanut-butter sandwich & milk lunch!)

FROM BACH TO Boogie will be the program that the piano students of Peg Winters present when they give their Recital Sunday at the Winters' home on Bonita Lane . . . Cookies, punch & cool weather will prevail, prays Peg, who is serving the music to parents outside on the terrace.

Dry Cleaners May Strike

With the break up of negotiations between some 1300 cleaners and dyers and their employers, it appears Contra Costans along with the population of Alameda, Napa and Solano counties will be doing their own cleaning next week, or stacking up dirty clothes.

Local 3009 representing workers in some 300 plants in the four counties has threatened to walk off the job next week. The union seeks a "substantial" wage increase as well as continuation of present health and welfare benefits, according to Russ Crowell, business agent.

Employers have offered a six cent an hour increase for each year of a three year contract, but have declined to pay more. An employer spokesman said the union is asking for 15 cents an hour increase for the first year.

The union has already received strike sanction from the Alameda County Central Labor Council. Crowell said the local has informed individual cleaning plants they had the remainder of this week to sign up individually. "After that the union will call its own shots," he declared.

Fire House No. 1 May Be New Home For Muni Court

Central Fire District "Station No. 1" on Bonanza Street, Walnut Creek, is one of several alternatives which has been inspected as the site for the new Walnut Creek Municipal Court.

County Right of Way Department men have looked at eight to 10 possible sites, and turned over their observations to the county administrator's office.

Station No. 1, built in 1926, has been deemed too small for the district's primary station, and a new site has been chosen for it on the Cameron property at Ygnacio Valley Road and Civic Drive junction.

THE OLD court building, which housed the judicial court and since last year the municipal court at 1690 Locust Street, has been deemed no longer sufficient.

Consideration has been given to placing it as a second floor over the new city library on North Broadway, in the Walnut Creek civic center itself, and more recently other areas.

Considered a drawback for the Station No. 1 is the lack of parking. County officials, discussing location of the court in the Walnut Creek civic center, wanted a lot for 25 to 40 cars.

The entire question may wait on a study by the Judicial Council of California of the inferior court system in Contra Costa County.

County Will Be Third Largest In Bay Area

By the year 2000, Contra Costa County will be the third largest in the Bay Area with a population of 1,105,000.

Alameda will top the list with 1,833,000 inhabitants with Santa Clara a close second with a population of 1,691,000. Other counties will follow the population growth in this order: San Mateo, San Francisco, Sonoma, Solano, Marin and Napa.

THE OFFICE of Area Development, U. S. Department of Commerce has predicted the population of the nine Bay Area Counties will be multiplied by four to more than 14,500,000 people in 2020.

During the same period the number of jobs will also increase four fold and the area will become almost completely urbanized. The predictions were released in a report compiled for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, to be used in conjunction with its Bay model study of water supply, navigation, flood control, crossings, reclamation and national defense.

The report is designed to show on a decade to decade basis, how the Bay Area can grow in the next 60 years.

The 1960 Bay census breakdown shows Contra Costa County with a population of 402,303 as compared to 298,984 in 1950. Now the fifth largest county in the Bay Area, Contra Costa is out populated by Alameda, 886,661; San Francisco, 715,069; Santa Clara, 639,615 and San Mateo, 439,186.

Pleasant Hill Terminal Cited for Rapid Transit

Pleasant Hill would become one of the terminal points of the five-county Bay Area Rapid Transit District's first stage rail system according to a new plan submitted this week by engineers for the district.

The new engineering proposal cuts more than $250,000,000 off the original cost estimate of $1,200,000,000, which was presented to the district board of directors last month. Under the plan, the first stage network would cost about $915,986,000.

BECAUSE OF THE unexpectedly high cost estimates of the original plan, directors decided against holding a bond election for early construction of the system in November.

The proposed system must fit within the legal bonding capacity of the district — a limit of 15 per cent of the assessed valuation of property within the five counties. These counties are Contra Costa, Alameda, San Francisco, San Mateo and Marin.

Under the original plan submitted to the directors, Concord was the first stage terminal in Contra Costa County. The district engineers effected a cost saving of $113,000 by cutting back all of the five major first stage lines in similar fashion.

THE NEW PROPOSAL was referred by Adrien J. Falk, transit district president, to the board's engineering and finance committees, which will report to the complete board at the conclusion of studies.

Once it is adopted by the transit district directors, the proposed system will go to the boards of supervisors of each of the counties involved, where public hearings will be held and local board votes will be taken.

Total length of the new proposal is 98 miles, as compared with 132 miles of transit line contained in the earlier cost estimate report. This includes 18.5 miles of subway and tunnels, 43.9 miles of aerial line and 34.4 miles of surface routing.

OTHER CHANGES made in the proposed transit system are as follows:

A proposed selection of a Mission Street - Alemany Boulevard route for the peninsula line leading south from San Francisco instead of two routes in the area — saves $123 million.

A portion of the proposed transit line from San Francisco to Marin County is planned for aerial construction instead of the more expensive subway — saves $21 million.

Construction of the entire peninsula line on grade level rather than on aerial structures — saves $32 million.

The $915 million cost estimate does not include the trans-Bay tube, for which revenue bond financing already has been pledged by the state.

Elmer Anderson Nmed to Post At Orinda Bank

Elmer E. Anderson of 703 Los Palos Drive, Lafayette, has been appointed assistant manager at the Orinda office of Wells Fargo Bank American Trust Company.

He replaces John J. Hall, who has been promoted to manager of the West Berkeley office.

The announcement of both moves was made today by Ransom M. Cook, president, following a meeting of the bank's board of directors.

Anderson, 43, is a native Californian and joined the former Wells Fargo Bank in 1935.

In March of this year he was named assistant manager of the proposed Walnut Creek office of Wells Fargo Bank. When plans for that office were shelved due to the merger of American Trust and Wells Fargo, he was assigned to duty in San Francisco.

In the leading role of Willy Loman, the salesman, will be Harry Rasmussen, former Dramateur player who since has performed with the Alameda Little Theatre and various Mills College groups.

Peg Stanislawsky will portray Linda, Stu Kitsner will be seen as Biff and Gerald Appel will be Happy in the play's other leading parts.

Supporting roles will be played by Rolph Williams, Jim Donnem, Jack Varner, Jerry Hamilton, June Barwick and Arline Bacharach.

Hats Off To...

Students, Administrators, And Above all, TEACHERS

Some of our youngsters have set foot inside a classroom for the last time. They have graduated from high school.

Many others will go on with their education, some in our fine junior college system, some in our excellent state colleges, others to private institutions of higher learning.

The Sun tips its hat to all the graduates and wishes them the best of luck in their future endeavors.

But behind this complex of students lies an excellent faculty. That is one way of including a number of fine, individual teachers in one large, homogeneous group.

If it were possible, The Sun would list the names and outstanding qualifications of each of these men and women who have worked so hard during the past year to give our children one of the finest educations in the world.

Usually, like in other endeavors, these people hear only the barbs and never the compliments. Probably this compliment comes too late, as hundreds of teachers are celebrating well deserved nervous breakdowns at the end of the school year.

But belated or not, we wish to thank all our teachers, principals and administrators too, for the fine job they have done. We'll look forward to seeing them again next year!

11 Winners Named 'Miss High School'

The 1960 Miss High School fashion show at Capwell's, Walnut Creek, featured the latest in Spring and Summer vacation wear for the teen age and college sets.

Thirty-two girls from eleven local high schools presented the fashions at the show under the direction of Patricia Fink, store fashion coordinator.

One girl from each high school was eventually chosen as a member of the High School Board by means of a three part system—fashion show, personal interview and a popularity among the girls.

Mrs. Phyllis Slingsby of the Times, Mrs. Adelle Stoddard of the Kernel, and Mrs. Jean Jernigan of the Sun were judges.

The eleven winners were announced at an Open House Coke party.

They were: Marcia Worthing, Acalanes; Cathy Fountain, Alhambra; Karen Kent, Antioch; Ann Grogan, Clayton Valley; Reanne Leake, Las Lomas; Joyce Odenthal, Miramonte; Carol Treece, Mt. Diablo; Dena Vargas, Pacifica; Gayle Fromme, Pittsburg; Carolyn Canty, Pleasant Hill; Miriam Nicholaisen, San Ramon.

The Board members will serve in an advisory capacity and on sales staff of Capwell's during the Fall-Winter season this year.

In addition, they will participate in two fall fashion shows during the Back-to-school period.

All the girls participating in the show received souvenir gifts as mementoes of their modeling careers and the winners were also presented with merchandise certificates.

Trampoline Law Held Over by Cty. Supervisors

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors Tuesday postponed decision on a county trampoline control ordinance until next Tuesday.

Under consideration is an ordinance requested by County Health Officer Dr. Henrik L. Blum, who said that his investigation has shown that two deaths in Southern California are attributable to trampolining, and that already two serious injuries have occurred in this county.

TRAMPOLINE centers are operating now in Walnut Creek, Lafayette, Pleasant Hill, Concord and El Sobrante, and several other installations are already underway.

A spokesman from the Health Department indicated that a member of the department would meet with a group of the trampoline operators and a member of the District Attorney's office before Tuesday to iron out areas of disagreement in the proposed ordinance.

"The intent of the ordinance," said the spokesman, "is to increase the safety factor of these installations and at the same time make them more attractive to users.

"WE FEEL THAT this is what the operators want too, because without this, and with the possibility of a serious injury, the operators might well lose a good part of their business."

The ordinance aims at providing a maximum of safety in the installation and operation of trampoline centers, and controlling the sanitary facilities, lighting and operation of the installations.

Red Cross Must Remain Strong

"The International You is vital to the welfare of our community and country," Donald Stout, manager of the Pacific Area American Red Cross told more than 200 guests attending the barbeque 62nd annual dinner meeting of the Greater Mt. Diablo Chapter last week.

"It is vital to our country's security and welfare that our organization remain strong while the international situation remains precarious as it appears to be," he said.

"Many people do not realize that we are obligated by an Act of Congress to provide emergency assistance in time of war and local and national disaster.

"IF WE ARE to adequately meet this obligation — and meet it we must — we can only do so with the cooperation of every member and friend of our organization.

Richard Hurley of Walnut Creek was elected to succeed Mrs. Arthur H. Hammonds of Saranap as chairman for the Crusade supported Chapter.

Other officers are First Vice Chairman Robert I. Schroder of Walnut Creek, Second Vice Chairman Mrs. Julius Loeb of Alamo, Third Vice Chairman Berle F. Chadwick, Jr. of Pittsburg-Antioch, Treasurer Eldo T. Ewert of Walnut Creek, and Secretary Mrs. Edward Miller of Walnut Creek.

Vote Tabulation Shows County Not Like State

Contra Costa County primary election returns showed a vote of 43,696 for Governor Edmund G. Brown, compared to Vice President Richard Nixon's 40,306 tallies. Brown's opponent, George McLain, totalled 19,908 votes.

Statewide Brown trailed Nixon by more than 100,000 votes. The state tallies were Nixon, 987,081 and Brown,

CENTRAL Contra Costa County residents of the East Bay Municipal Utility District favored fluoridation 14,500 to 9,900. However totals for the entire county showed fluoridation defeated by a 33,569 to 30,907. Final results for Alameda and Contra Costa Counties were: Yes, 115,483; No, 153,109.

The three propositions appearing on the ballot statewide were approved throughout the state, with Contra Costans giving overwhelming approval to two of the three and approval of the third by a smaller margin.

Final tallies for Contra Costa showed Proposition One (Cal-Vet Bonds 55,856 to 40,451; Proposition Two (School Bonds) 67,950 to 37,364; Proposition Three (Constitutional amendment relating to state indebtedness), 50,174 to 46,270.

IN THE CONTEST between Judge Betsy Fitzgerald Rahn and attorney Joseph Longacre for the judgeship of Walnut Creek Municipal Court, Judge Rahn received 57.3 per cent of the vote and Longacre 42.7. Excluding absentee votes, Judge Rahn totalled 12,988 to Longacre's 9,736.

Nearly two thirds of the vote in Walnut Creek went to Judge Rahn, who also retained a strong lead in Alamo and Saranap. The margin was smaller in Lafayette, and Longacre led by a small margin in his hometown of Orinda where the tally was 2515 for Judge Rahn and 2733 for Longacre.

Results of the 10th District Assembly contest showed a Republican vote of 29,402 for George R. Krueger, a Concord councilman and insurance broker. Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie (D-Antioch) tallied a 33,809 Democratic vote.

THE WRITE in vote was small for the assembly race and resulted in a democratic vote of 203 for Krueger and 219 Republican votes for Waldie.

A strong challenger for the Congressional post held by Representative John F. Baldwin, is Douglas R. Page, a Walnut Creek councilman and attorney with offices in Martinez. Contra Costa and Solano Counties totalled 69,665 votes for Page to his Republican opponent's 53,652.

State Senator George Miller appeared to be favored to retain his legislative seat. He polled 59,618 Democratic votes. His Republican opponent, King Parker Jr., a Walnut Creek realtor of Alamo, polled 38,597 votes. Write in votes, exclusive of Richmond, showed Miller with 236 and Parker with 70.

SUPERVISOR Mel Nielsen of Lafayette ran unopposed, even by a write in candidate in the Second District.

Warren G. Buchanan, supervisor from the Fourth District and former chairman of the Contra Costa Board of Supervisors, had 4,684 votes to 3,139 for Edmund Linscheid, but the 1,869 votes polled by John E. Bugni forces the two top candidates into a November run off. All three candidates are from Pittsburg, but the supervisorial district includes Clayton Valley.

In the Fifth Supervisorial District, Joseph Silva polled 5,296 votes to Frank Arata's 3,603. One hundred twenty absentee ballots remain to be counted.

In the Democratic County Committee race in the third Supervisorial District former Concord Municipal Judge John L. Garaventa topped 15 other candidates with 11,027 votes. The Republicans had no contest for County Central Committee posts.

Others elected to the committee are Robert Condon, 9,681; Raymond Chapot, 9,240; Frank Hanrahan, 9,148; Russell Koch, 7,733 and Mrs. Patricia Silva, 6,943.

Stanley Awards Assembly Honors Top Students

The awards assembly held at Stanley School last Friday was the beginning of a number of activities which preceded the close of the school year, and "sent-off" the eighth graders to summer vacations and then high school.

Several different types of awards were given out. The M. H. Stanley School award is given to those students who have qualified through punctuality, regular attendance, acceptance of responsibility in fulfillment of obligations, participation in school activities, and commendable progress in academic subjects.

One unexcused absence or tardiness, one F grade, or one unsatisfactory citizenship mark from any teacher will automatically disqualify the student, and the award is coveted and not easy to get.

THERE WERE 287 students graduating this June and 105 of them received this award. Thirty-eight received this merit award for the fourth consecutive semester, something of which they may be very proud.

The second type of award given was the scholastic honors award. This award for academic excellence is based on the grade point average a student earns in the basic academic courses. One point is given for each C, two for a B, and three points for an A.

One hundred twenty-six eighth graders received scholastic awards for having a 2.0 (B) average or better, 21 for having a 2.8 average or better, and 4 students were given the highest award by having a 3.0 or an A average.

THE FOUR students are Barbara Dodge, Linda Jo Faye, Wynne Furth and Catherine Johnston. Barbara Dodge, Linda Jo Faye, Trudine Mazaika, and Greg Rapp were proud recipients of another award; they had maintained a 2.8 average or better for the fourth consecutive semester.

An award for outstanding scholastic and athletic achievement was also given out. In addition to scholastic and athletic achievement, other requirements necessary to qualify include outstanding citizenship and responsibility. Mr. Mattson, coach at Acalanes High School, presented the trophy, and the honor associated with having his name inscribed on a perpetual plaque to Bill McHale.

Each year the American Legion presents an award to one eighth grade boy and girl for their outstanding citizenship. In addition to the program here at Stanley, this honor is given on a national basis and its purpose is to encourage children to be good citizens.

THE QUALITIES considered in selecting the winners include courage, courtesy, loyalty, leadership, honor and scholarship. Today Mr. B. Steet, past commander of the American Legion post in Lafayette, presented this American Legion National Student award to Suzie Manske and Frank Colwell, two very deserving students.

Saturday was another big day for Stanley graduates. The Parents' Club gave a party for all eighth graders at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. Students were treated to refreshments and dancing with music by a live orchestra.

Thursday was the last day of school. The yearbooks were distributed, students viewed the Stanley Talent Show, and finally report cards and diplomas were handed to eager students who have traveled a great deal farther on their path to knowledge.

Mel Nielsen Is Divorced

An interlocutory decree of divorce against Mel F. Nielsen was granted Monday in Superior Court to his wife, Esperanza.

Custody of their two children, 17 and 14, was awarded to Mrs. Nielsen and $350 monthly for their support. Judge Norman Gregg also granted her possession of the family house and furniture at 3376 Ridge Road, Lafayette.

Nielsen, chairman of the Contra Costa Board of Supervisors, owns a gas station and tire recapping business in Lafayette. The couple was married in 1935 and separated last October 11.

The divorce was granted on the grounds of mental cruelty.

Virco Co. Wins Bid to Furnish New Classrooms

Trustees of the Lafayette School District accepted the low bids on furniture for the Fairview School addition and the Springhill portable classrooms at their regular meeting Monday night at the district administration building.

Virco of Los Angeles won the bid at $6035.69, and Beier and Gunderson was low bidder on teachers' desks, at $608.40.

In other business the board:

AUTHORIZED the secretary to sign a contract with the Wilson Plumbing Company for $1758 for installation of plumbing for six science tables at Stanley School.

Authorized negotiation of a waiver of subrogation rights under the fire insurance policy, on behalf of parent groups conducting summer enrichment programs. Such groups will be protected under the policy from loss from fire.

Accepted arithmetic guides for grades one through six from Frank Walrath, Stanley school teacher.

Accepted for review the language arts guides for the seventh and eighth grades from Donald Williams, district administrative assistant.

ACCEPTED JOB descriptions for classified personnel presented by Sigmund Hansen, business manager, and authorized adjustments for certain classified personnel.

Granted authorization to advertise for bids for playground paving at Burton, Happy Valley, Merriewood and Montecito schools.

Accepted for consideration a suggestion from Richard Kunstman, who has been working on Civil Defense at Burton School, that when a child's emergency disaster information card is not signed and returned to school, that child be sent home in case of a disaster.

Set August 1 at 7:30 p.m. as the date for a public hearing of the budget for the 1960-61 school year, in the board room.

Held a closed personnel meeting.

Church Leaders Consider Adding Eighth District

Proposals for a $1,500,000 fund campaign and an additional district are among considerations at the annual conference of Northern California-Nevada Methodist churches, which continues through Sunday.

Representing the Lafayette Community Methodist Church are Reverend and Mrs. Wayne H. Long, and lay members, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Huckins. From the Orinda - Moraga Methodist Church, Reverend John L. Dodson and Mrs. Adele Harlan, lay member, are attending.

PROCEEDS OF the campaign would go for capital expenditures at College of Pacific, at student centers for several colleges, and at the Fred Finch Children's Home and several campgrounds.

Creation of an eighth district stems from a two-year committee study. Its major suggested change is splitting San Francisco from Alameda and Contra Costa counties and adding to San Francisco most of San Mateo County, now in San Jose district. Each district has a full-time superintendent.

BISHOP Donald H. Tippett of San Francisco is speaking at devotions each morning and at the Sunday morning service in Stockton Civic Auditorium, where the choir will represent more than 50 churches.

Guest speaker tonight will be Dr. Theodore A. Gill, president of San Francisco Theological Seminary.

On the closing Sunday afternoon, new ministers will be ordained and pastors assigned to the area's churches for the coming year.

Abuse of Free Calls is Cited

"Abuse of the emergency toll-free telephone provided by the Sheriff's Office for Contra Costa County citizens may cause its removal from service," said George K. Burton, director of communications for the Sheriff's Office.

The number ENterprise 1-1560 which terminates on the Sheriff's Office radio desk cannot be switched to any other office or telephone, he said.

"This facility is provided as a service and convenience for County residents who wish to make an emergency call to the Sheriff's Office, such as a 'crime in progress' report," Burton continued.

The Last Goodbys Said, Seniors Enjoy Final Party

By JULE' NOLLER

Finals, yearbooks, Baccalaureate, parties and last night's commencement exercises put the final touches on the high school year of the class of 1960.

When the final strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" were heard and when the last goodbys were said — the seniors took off for their long-awaited senior all night party at the Athens Club in Oakland. Entertaining during the evening was Rod Cauley's Band, the Cables, a modern singing quartet and Earl "Fatha" Hines' Dixieland Band.

The students spent the night doing everything from having their fortunes told to playing bingo and dancing to the band. Everyone left with some kind of a souvenir — either a caricature of themselves done by one of the artists who was hired for the party or some prize donated by one of the Orinda Merchants for the games played at the party.

The party ended in the early morning with a huge breakfast planned by Mrs. Kimball's committee. Other parents who deserve special credit for their work on the party are Mr. and Mrs. Botto, Mr. and Mrs. McCosker, Mr. and Mrs. Guarneri, Mr. Spott, Mrs. Brobeck, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. McGuire, Mrs. Neighbor, Mr. and Mrs. Fridell, Mr. and Mrs. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Blue, and Mrs. Lang. Mr. and Mrs. Arleigh Williams, who were in charge of the entire party as chairmen, merit special thanks from all the seniors for giving them such a tremendous party.

On the other hand, the seniors also merit recognition for their outstanding record. 51 awards and scholarships have been given to the class for various achievements. Also 86 per cent of the class will continue on to college next year.

Seven surprise awards were given out at the graduation ceremony. Carol Knudsen was awarded a scholarship from the Orinda Women's Club. The Class of '59 award was given to both Bob Newman and Milt Howe. Norita Jones was given a fine arts scholarship by the Parent's SClub. The three other Parent's Club scholarships were awarded to Bill Brown, Linda Williams and Terry Scheffer.

The awards which were made known during the Senior Awards Assembly last Friday are as follows. Dave Dail received a U.C. alumni scholarship, which was given in the name of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Arighi. Carol Knudsen was given an AAUW award and also notification that she won honors at entrance at Williamette University.

Saundra Thurston and Susan Hightower both received Miramonte business club scholarships. Norita Jones, Linda Williams, Joan Robinson, Terry Scheffer, Ruth Thompson and Mickey Wilber were given pins for being life-time members of the California Scholarship Federation.

Three student body service awards were given to Rich Harrington, Bob Jones and Tom Heiser for their service to the school in audio-visual work. Bob Jones was also given the Mirador loyalty award in school service. Jeff Neighbor won the Mirador loyalty award in athletics.

Mario Guarneri has received a music scholarship to U.S.C. Bob Newman, Hilary Brown, Ruth Thompson, Bill Brown and Mickey Wilber took bows for their honors as Merit Scholarship Finalists. Letters of commendation for their achievement on the Merit Scholarship Test were won previously by Nancy Grah, Terry Sheffer, Bill McGuire and Jerry Overaa.

Milt Howe was chosen by the Orinda Rotary Club as the outstanding senior boy. Katy McQuaid and Terry Scheffer were given U.C. alumni honorary scholarships.

Michele Angelo won both a Savings and Loan Association scholarship and a DAR award. Nancy Grah is the winner of a California State scholarship.

(Eight) Bank of America awards were given to Mario Guarneri, Susan Hightower, Terry Scheffer, Nancy Grah, Michele Angelo, Ruth Thompson, Mickey Wilber and Nadya Roegiers. Out of these eight, four were awarded trophies for being finalists. These were Terry Scheffer, Nancy Grah, Michele Angelo and Ruth Thompson.

Barbara Thomas was awarded two scholarships — one from the Miramonte Future Teachers' Club and also an A.E.A. scholarship. Suzanne Lindsay won a Betty Crocker homemaking award. Ruth Thompson also won a Diablo Pageant of Arts Literary Award.

Remember Job-Hunting Days? It's Not Easy!

Do you remember when you were out looking for your first job?

Probably that memory has been mercifully buried. But it is a reality to hundreds of our local high school students. And perhaps it isn't their first job, but the same old problem of trying to find gainful employment for the summer.

There are, of course, the usual places that the youngsters can go to look for jobs. The most logical place is the California State Department of Employment which maintains its main office in Pittsburg and a branch office in Walnut Creek City Hall.

But unless you are a boy and willing to work in the fields picking crops, the opportunities there are fairly well exhausted.

For girls, they are practically nil.

THE VOLUNTEER BUREAU of Contra Costa County has several openings—interesting and varied jobs—but they don't pay. Youngsters can gain valuable experience, however.

So what is the youngster supposed to do? Where can he go? How can the local businessman, who might be able to use some help, and the youngster, get together?

One obvious way is through the classified pages of The Sun. The Sun offers free classified ads to teenagers who are job hunting, and this program has proved very successful. Many youngsters have established themselves through the summer by this method.

EMPLOYERS SHOULD find a ready-made market if they were to use classified ads. But many businessmen do not consider using the 16- and 17-year-old boy or girl for that "summer replacement" job. It is dismissed as being more trouble than it is worth.

Businessmen who take this attitude are not realizing one very important thing. The proper youngster, with the proper incentive and help from the employer, can become a valuable member of the business in two or three years.

In other words, the businessman can build his own labor pool by helping our local youngsters during the summer months.

And of course, by doing this, he is helping the community as well as himself. Nor is it a matter of charity. Most of the time the youngsters turn out a creditable performance.

Any boy who wants to take on gardening chores can probably keep busy all summer and lay aside a good pile of cash to defray next year's expenses. And there's a good market for "mother's helpers" on the young ladies' side of the ledger.

Initiative always pays off, too. The youngster who thinks up an unusual way to sell his talents will get his share of the market right off the top.

This has always been the case.

Anyone For a Poker Hand?

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors Tuesday passed a card room ordinance, and this will be of definite benefit to everybody living in the unincorporated areas of the county.

Frankly, this ordinance was long overdue. It should have been enacted years ago. If this had been done, there would have been many a nuisance that would never have plagued some of our quieter neighborhood areas.

The ordinance, basically, allows the board of supervisors and the sheriff's office to control card rooms. Only legalized games such as draw poker and low ball can be played, according to state law.

BUT THE WAY things were before, a card room did not require any special kind of permit. One could be opened in any business or commercial section, and your community would be stuck with it.

The present ordinance has some teeth to it, and a lot of control. The sheriff is empowered to use the application fee of $150 to investigate the background of the owners, anyone financially interested, and the managers and dealers.

But perhaps best of all, from our standpoint as residents, the applicant for a card room must have the approval of the board of supervisors. This will give you, a resident, a chance to appear before the board and object to the location of a card room in your vicinity, if you should so desire.

THIS ORDINANCE, frankly, isn't strong enough. There are many people who feel that card rooms should be abolished entirely.

But it is a step in the right direction. It gives our sheriff a chance to enforce stringent controls, and it gives the board of supervisors, and consequently you, a chance to object to the establishment of such a room in the first place.

We have a long way to go, but we're getting there step by step!

Ready, Aim....Hold It!

There's one thing to be said about guns. When they are loaded, and you point them at something and pull the trigger, then they fire and they hit what they are pointed at.

If what they are pointed at is legal game or a target, then a gun can indeed be an instrument of pleasure.

But if that gun is pointed at a person, then the results can be murder.

IT TAKES A CERTAIN amount of maturity to be able to handle a gun in safety. Whether this maturity is reached at the age of eight or 80 is incidental.

Some people can never be trusted with a gun, others can. Fortunately most of our youngsters are pretty sensible people, when you get right down to brass tacks. They have the maturity to handle weapons.

But along with maturity must go knowledge. The proper way to handle and clean a gun; how to climb over obstacles, and, of course, how and when to fire.

For several years in our area California Hunter Safety Courses have been conducted.

The California Department of Fish and Game will conduct another such course for boys and girls 16 years and under, starting tomorrow.

The class will be co-sponsored by the Walnut Creek Park and Recreation Department and the Walnut Creek Youth Athletic Association. Two hours sessions will be held on Saturday mornings for a total of four hours. Another course will start July 16.

THERE IS NO charge for this course and both boys and girls are welcome. Aside from the state law, which says that no youngster under 16 years may purchase a hunting license without successfully completing a course in the safe handling of firearms, there are other factors.

If you have a youngster who is interested in guns, you as a parent will feel much more secure if you know that your youngster is equipped with the knowledge which will make his handling of the weapon safe.

Why not enroll your youngster in one of these courses?

Native Customs Are Quaint

By CONNIE PIKE

Just about the time school vacation begins, natives of the central county start practicing certain tribal customs, which tourists might find amusing.

Upon awakening in the morning they dress in bright, brief costumes, leaving most of their skin exposed. This skin they carefully oil.

They cover their eyes with dark glasses and their heads with oddly shaped straw hats—native products which you may purchase at about twice their worth.

THUS QUAINTLY dressed, they lie down out of doors, much like natives of the tropics, except that here they lie in the sun, whereas people of the tropics prefer to lie in the cool shade.

After warming themselves thoroughly, our natives jump into a large pond made of concrete which they keep just for this purpose. The day is spent in this sun and water ritual.

The children are less restricted. They may spend as much time in the water as they wish, racing around and around the pond. Periodically they climb out to eat, or for one of a variety of games played with a ball.

It has been noted in the absence of a ball, the children appear somewhat listless and will brighten up only when an anxious mother presents them with small books of colored pictures. These books absorb their attention completely, but the observer will find them difficult to translate.

WHEN THE SUN starts down, the clans pick themselves up and make preparations for the evening meal. Although their homes are equipped with the most modern of cooking and dining facilities, during this special "vacation" season they are bound by custom to make small charcoal fires out of doors. At dusk you can see smoke rising in the valleys from countless small fires.

All gather around a rough wood table, sitting on hard benches which appear to be handmade. They exclaim over somewhat charred meat, which is often held together with buns.

After the meal voices become quieter, children drowse around the glowing ashes, and at last, they pick themselves up and go to bed.

Native children sleep soundly under the stars, but adults show more sensitivity and sleep in beds inside the house, away from insects and howling dogs.

And so goes the season.

King for a Day...

HEALTH

Dear Editor:

The Parent-Teacher district here seemed quite concerned with the matter of fluoridation of our water supply. It is a policy of parent-teacher groups to cooperate with health departments, of course, but may I point out how these fine people can be of even more help to public agencies in furthering the health of their children.

It is this. Study health education for yourselves. When you know what good nutrition can do, you can work with health departments as informed persons. Every library is bulging with all the knowledge that you, mothers, need to know to care for your children's teeth, eyes, and all the rest of their bodies.

Not a single more cavity need appear in the teeth of American children than in the teeth of primitive peoples everywhere—learn this for yourself by reading even one report, this by a dentist sent out officially by the American Dental Association, Dr. Weston A. Price, who studied teeth and craniums all over the world. And go on from there.

Learn how intimately your child's health is bound up with agricultural practices. I once asked a farmer of he used trace elements in his fields so his vegetables would have more minerals and vitamins in them. "Heck, no," he said, "that stuff costs money, and anyway nobody ever asks whether it's used or not." Have you asked?

Do you mothers, as consumers, ever ask whether your Department of Agriculture is advising farmers to raise produce for health-producing results—or only for quantity? And have you inquired how much health-building value is lost from your foods in various processing, before it reaches your table? You should know this, then when you look at your child's decayed teeth, you can judge wisely where the true remedy lies.

Let's not ask more and more of public services. Let's ask more of ourselves first.

MRS. CLARENCE E. RUST

FLUORIDATION

Dear Editor:

Water fluoridation, a major advance in public health already in effect in San Francisco, was defeated in the East and North Bay counties by uninformed and misled public opinion.

Although fluoridation has the support of the bonafide medical and dental societies, and the Public Health departments, their efforts were not prolonged enough to properly inform the electorate of the proven scientific facts.

The defeat of fluoridation will serve as a tarnished monument to what unsubstantiated rumor and lack of knowledge can do.

JOHN SAEMAN

PRESS COVERAGE

Dear Editor:

Although I did not take any active part in the present election campaign, I have given the candidates and issues some serious consideration, and have also given some thought to the press coverage. You will not be happy about what I have to say about The Sun.

You have predicted that the proposition on fluoridation will fail to pass. Has it occurred to you that a major factor in this defeat could be that the subject was simply beaten to death by The Sun?

Is the subject of fluoridation so all-important that it must occupy columns and columns of news and editorial space week after week, while major issues are left untouched or passed over lightly? Surely there are other things which need discussing as much or more.

THIS WAS not much of an election—a "primary" to "choose" candidates for the November election. There was no selection to be made in most cases. Why were there no candidates competing for the office of Supervisor, for example? In the 4th and 5th Districts there were at least 2 to choose from, but there was no contest in the 2nd District.

In the one case where a choice of candidates was offered—Judge of the Municipal Court—the Sun did not perform very creditably, but allowed itself to be made a part of a disgusting attack upon the incumbent. It apparently was patent to most everyone except The Sun that this attack had its inception among a group of disgruntled candidates who lost to Judge Rahn in a previous election.

The tactics used by this group were unworthy of the legal profession — innuendo, anonymous reports and all. And The Sun allowed its editorial bias to permeate its news reporting—e.g. in reporting on candidates' night, you said that a spontaneous burst of applause followed Mr. Longacre's discourse; no mention of applause was made in reporting on any of the other speakers.

IS IT straight news reporting to comment on applause in one case without mentioning applause every time it occurred? How did you determine that the applause was "spontaneous"? Could it not have been the work of a claque?

So, in deference to your weary readers, why not drop fluoridation; and in deference to the needs for a more judicial temperament in analyzing candidates and issues, why not be less intent on quantitative analysis (statistics) and more on qualitative review.

JAMES G. HUPP

THANK YOU

Dear Editor:

We, of St. Perpetua's Guild, would like to thank The Sun for the publicity given our various events during the year. It has done much to make our year a very successful one, I am sure.

Thank you!

Snoopy Gives Us Heck For Our Recommendation

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

"Hey, boss, what do you think of the election? The Sun certainly took a beating, didn't it? Fluoridation was trounced and Judge Rahn really clobbered Longacre."

These loud, needling sounds came from Snoopy, the office cat.

"Come on, Herman, old boy," mewed Snoopy, "Let's hear your excuses."

The Sun has no excuses, Snoopy, old boy. We presented our recommendations and then it is up to each voter to decide. We don't have to worry about this democracy of ours when voters think and decide for themselves. But I would worry plenty if you and the reader and The Sun always thought alike. Then, something would really be wrong.

Siding with the majority?

In making recommendations on candidates or issues, in deciding editorial policies, The Sun does not attempt to be only on the popular side. We are not running a popularity contest.

For example, we were certain Betsy Rahn would win re-election as Municipal Judge. We told her so. We told Joe Longacre Betsy would win. I even bet (1 lunch) a Longacre supporter that Betsy would win.

The fact that it looked like Betsy would win did not deter us from recommending Longacre. It is not necessarily our goal to back the winning team.

Incidentally, I believe that Betsy will do an even better job as Judge having gone through this campaign.

Facing the electorate . . .

We believe that in a democracy it is very good for public officials to be opposed at the polls. Generally, it is healthy for an official to answer to the people at election time.

Let's get back to the discussion of endorsements, whether on the popular side or not.

Some years ago The Sun endorsed the formation of a county junior college district. We knew the people in this area opposed the idea primarily because of additional taxes. We actively campaigned for it. A majority of people in this community voted against it, but it won county-wide.

What was the result?

You know the rest of the story: We have a fine junior college organization that fills a tremendous need. Some of our children would not be in college if it were not for the district. It is accomplishing wonderful work.

Now let's look at fluoridation for a minute.

Fluoridation of water lost in the entire East Bay Municipal Utility District. It won, however, in our area overwhelmingly. Our central Contra Costa communities were the only ones in Alameda and Contra Costa that gave fluoridation a heavy yes vote.

We were all tired of it

The Sun hopes that it played a small role in this favorable vote. We have been talking about fluoridation for about 10 years. We all became tired of the subject. It is not the most popular subject. We, however, believe that it is important, regardless of the fact that some very vocal people opposed it vigorously.

Fluoridation is primarily a matter of educating the people. This community may be proud that they were in favor of fluoridation.

Incidentally, I have had several calls asking why East Bay Mud can't fluoridate the water only in central Contra Costa county. I understand this has been done elsewhere. This certainly should be considered.

Returning to the main subject of today's mighty dissertation, I want to emphasize this point: The Sun does not expect or want you to agree with us on every point. And we certainly do not expect to agree with you on every candidate or issue.

Can you win them all?

We will continue to call the shots as we see them. We study the issues carefully. With a limited staff, we cannot spend weeks investigating every issue. However, the staff works hard to arrive at sound, intelligent editorial policy.

We will continue to do the very best we can. We will not be wishy-washy. We will print all the responsible news that is given to us. We will study the issues. We will let you know what we think in our editorial columns. You take over thereafter.

Well, what do you think?

On The Lighter Side

By LIZ FOLLIARD
CL 4-5667

The Linnet Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center reports the following activities of their members: Mrs. John La Rien has just returned from a visit to Connecticut. Mrs. Frank Marshall arrived home on February 27 from a tour of South America where she became particularly interested in Brazilian architecture, which is ultra modern. The Marshalls recently attended a mayor's conference in Chicago. This was an invitational affair and was held from May 11 to 14.

Linnets Busy Visiting

Mr. & Mrs. Arch Campbell recently spent a most enjoyable weekend at Yosemite Valley. Mr. & Mrs. Ed Larmer have just returned from a week's visit to Portland, Oregon, making the trip by auto. While there they took a fascinating boat trip down the Columbia River and visited those fabulous gardens.

Mr. & Mrs. Frederick Confer spent the weekend of May 14 & 15 at Woodside with their daughter Mrs. Nancy Payne. While there they attended the Los Altos Hunt Horse Show and the dinner-dance. Mr. & Mrs. Frank Pennock were also in the party. Mrs. Pennock was an active member of the Linnets until she moved to Menlo Park.

Mr. & Mrs. Ed French had a memorable Memorial Day weekend. Their daughter and son in law, the Larry Courells were their house guests. On the weekend of June 4, the Frenchs went to Santa Cruz, where they golfed at Paso Tiempo Country Club.

Larks Date Fall Event

Mrs. Ann Hearn, publicity chairman of the Larks, reports some activities of her group. Janet Gritzer is now in Chicago attending her 25th Class Reunion. The Deltaes are the Junior Unit sponsored by the Larks. On June 10 they had a swim party and buffet supper at the home of Judy Laity in Lafayette. This combined a welcome to their new members and farewell to the seniors.

The last week in June looms as quite an episode in the life of the Hearn family. Mother, father and their five children are trekking to Tuolumne Meadows for a week of rest, relaxation and fun.

The Larks are looking forward to their fall events and have planned a luncheon and fashion show at Jack London Square. "Parisian Holidays" is the intriguing name they have selected for this event. Put the date on your calendars now, September 15. Fashions are by William Silva, furs by William Pinkus and commentator, Paul Spiegle. Place—Goodmans; price—$3.75. Chairman of this affair is Mrs. Sherman Sibley. President of the Larks, Marje Ageno, urges us all to keep this day in mind.

Your reporter had a happy and relaxing weekend with a fellow Oriole, Doris Hall. Liz and Betty Dexter were the guests of Doris and her husband George on their lovely boat, the Lady Doris. We cruised up the river to the Delta Club where the order of the day was bridge and swimming.

Barbecued lamb chops et al for supper and then, to sleep on board. Just as we were sailing off for home port, in came Fred & Helen Federighi on their Helen the Fourth, which they have just had shipped here from Florida. Skipper George thoughtfully back-watered so Liz could say Hi to her golfing pal Helen.

Everyone Knows Mrs. Boslar

MANY HOURS at typewriter, desk and telephone have been spent by Mrs. O. E. Boslar of 111 Andrea Drive, Walnut Creek in her work for the Walnut Creek Women's Club and Walnut Creek Library Association. —Sun photo by Bob Rush.

She Loves the Wonderful Wide World of Books

By JEAN JERNIGAN

When Mr. and Mrs. Orin E. Boslar came to live in Walnut Creek 13 years ago, she was interested in community service and promptly joined the Women's Club.

Active ever since with the club's philanthropies, some volunteer service, and the Walnut Creek Library Association, Mrs. Boslar has held many offices in the club. Her first year she was garden section chairman, and her most recent office was that of president, 1955-1957.

CURRENTLY she is chairman of the club's book section, a job dear to her heart, for she is entitled to wear the "torch" highest honor of Epsilon Sigma Omicron.

As California State Chairman of Epsilon Sigma Omicron, a sorority sponsored by the Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Boslar spends hours reading and accrediting the hundreds of books reports submitted to her. "For membership in the sorority," Mrs. Boslar recounted, "the candidate must read and submit a written report on 36 books. In order to have the honor of wearing the torch, the candidate must read an additional 108 books and submit reports."

CALIFORNIA had the greatest number of new members in Epsilon Sigma Omicron this year, than any other state in the union. Mrs. Boslar, fortunately, is very fond of reading. "I obtained my education through books," she recalled, "and have never lost my interest in reading.

Biographies and books on travel are her favorite topics, with the lives of Lincoln and George Carver high on her list of biographies she has enjoyed the most.

Seven years ago, the wheels started turning for the new Walnut Creek Library, scheduled to start construction this month. When members of the Walnut Creek Women's Club became concerned with improving the library facilities in Walnut Creek, a committee was formed to see what could be done. Mrs. Boslar was named chairman of that committee.

ULTIMATELY the Walnut Creek Library Association was formed, sponsored and financed by the Women's Club. Thelma Boslar has served as president of the association since its inception.

With hours of research work with the county and city librarians, success in changing state legislation, work with the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors and the legal minds of county and city to iron out the financial structure, the culmination of seven years work is about to produce concrete results.

Members of the Walnut Creek Women's Club, the City of Walnut Creek, and many others have worked long and hard to achieve a new library. However, probably no one will feel quite the same glow of happiness when the new library is completed, as Mrs. Boslar who has concentrated her time and abilities for seven years toward this goal.

QUICK TO disclaim personal credit for her work for a library, Thelma Boslar said, "It is not who did the work, or what organization contributed the most in effort or finances for the library that counts, but the fact that we will HAVE an adequate library."

At home at 111 Andrea Drive, Mrs. Boslar likes to garden, read, cook, play bridge and entertain friends. Together the Boslar's share the fun job of barbecuing for company.

Another shared pleasure is their interest in fishing. "I can't go with my husband any more," she remarked, "for my health can't stand the high altitudes in the mountains. However, we used to go on many trout fishing trips together, and my husband still goes. He's quite a dry fly expert."

TRAVEL IS another shared pleasure, although in recent years the trips have become shorter and closer to home. The last extensive trip the couple made was a journey to Alaska when the roads were "trails" and it took real pioneer courage to reach Alaska. "As I recall," Mrs. Boslar stated, "it took us about three weeks to reach our destination."

For newcomers to the area interested in community service through the Walnut Creek Women's Club, Mrs. Boslar suggests that the person become acquainted with two members who can then sponsor the membership. She herself was sponsored by acquaintances she had made at church.

Annette Ramelli Plans A September Wedding

A September wedding is planned by Annette Ramelli and William Timothy Ryan, whose engagement was first told at a traditional candle and candy ceremony at the Alpha Chi Omega sorority house at the University of California.

Thrice told, the engagement was again revealed to the couple's college friends at the home of the bride elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Ramelli of Strand Road, Walnut Creek. A party for close friends and relatives of the engaged pair at the Ramelli home last week completed the announcement festivities.

The engaged girl attended Dominican College in San Rafael before entering the University of California where she has been an "Oski Doll" and active in Panhellenic. She has a brother, Robert, of Parkland Drive, Walnut Creek, and a sister, Mrs. James S. Richardson of Apollo Way, Pleasant Hill.

Lieutenant Ryan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Ryan of San Francisco. He is a graduate of the University of California where he was president of Sigma Phi fraternity. The young officer is presently stationed in Washington, D.C.

The couple plan to be married September 24.

The thrill of visiting old friends and relatives is joy enough for Mrs. Tamberg, but for her children, who have never left California, the excitement and anticipation of new lands and experiences is a wondrous experience.

Mr. Tamberg plans to fly to Brazil to join his family for two weeks in July. However, for Randy, 16, Didi, 12, Dennis, 8, and Terry, 6, the trip of a lifetime will last for three glorious months. The family has lived in Walnut Creek for the past two years.

Patricia Boudreaux Wed June 5 David Schoolcraft

For her afternoon wedding June 5 in Santa Maria Catholic Church, Orinda, Patricia Lydia Boudreaux chose a wedding gown of chantilly lace and tulle over satin, styled with scoop neckline outlined with scalloped lace applique.

The full skirt with tulle front fluffed out from the fitted bodice and was appliqued with sprays of lace, creating a vision of bridal beauty as she swept down the aisle on her father's arm to the waiting groom, David Lee Schoolcraft.

Side panels of pleated tulle fell into the back tiers of lace ruffles which formed the chapel train. The bride's veil was secured by a crown of lace and seed pearls. She carried white carnations with an orchid cascade.

Reverend David Harrington performed the double ring ceremony. Miss Betty Blaydes was maid of honor, with Renee Boudreaux, sister of the bride, Dianne Reynolds and Ingrid Nielsen serving as bridesmaids.

The bridal party wore silk roganza over taffeta, fashioned with bouffant sleeves with juliet hats trimmed with tiny seed pearls. The dresses and hats were an orchid shade, and they carried lavender and white carnation nosegays.

DonJon Pierce of San Diego served as best man and the ushers were T. Ross Bignell, Ed Danner, Rex Murphy and Ed Baxter.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Boudreaux chose a gown with ecru lace bodice and sheath skirt of white silk. She wore a hat to match and a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a dress of blue silk organza with bouffant sleeves and matching accessories. She too wore an orchid corsage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton E. Boudreaux of Orinda. A reception immediately following the wedding was held at their home.

The bridal pair plan to live in San Diego.

She said, "The results of the election were very gratifying to me. I am grateful for the vote of confidence given me by the people of the Walnut Creek Judicial District.

The Contra Costa Chapter of the International Society for General Semantics met last Friday at the Cooperative Center meeting room, 1510 Geary Road.

Norman K. Harrington of San Francisco was discussion leader. He has been correctional officer and counselor at San Quentin Prison since 1948, and 23 years in law enforcement.

Harrington has been conducting a general semantics class for prisoners for the past nine years, has done the first major research into the general semantics of crime and punishment, and was discussion leader-lecturer for the chapter's opening seminar in March.

Yesterday the Contra Costa Chapter members formed car pools to attend the initial meeting of another East Bay semantics discussion group held at the Unitarian Church, 2425 Bancroft Way, Berkeley.

Micro-Filming Of County Records Begins

County Clerk Walter Paasch has announced that his office has been microfilming records since the June 7 primary election.

He said Sheriff Walter Young even earlier had been using microfilm equipment.

There has been a question of the legality and effectiveness of recording on film official documents.

But the day to day court decisions and judgments are now being microfilm recorded, and old files will be microfilmed as time allows, he said.

VD? It's Still Ruining Lives, Esp. Teenagers

Seventy teen-agers in Contra Costa County contracted syphilis or gonorrhea last year, according to a County Health Department report.

The report added that many persons contracted the diseases but did not get treatment, and the cases were not reported.

The syphilis-gonorrhea rate is six times greater than all other serious infectious diseases combined, the report said.

The report added, "Venereal disease is related to other aspects of social maladjustment, such as an increase in parenthood out of wedlock, juvenile and mental and emotional problems."

The Health Department and County Hospital conduct clinics for the diagnosis and treatment of syphilis and gonorrhea.

Your Garden

A Growing Gift Is Perfect To Show Father Affection

Whether or not Dad has a green thumb, a growing gift is perfect for Father's Day. For the man who "has everything" and has given everything to his family—you'll find the answer as to what to give him at a nursery.

If Dad enjoys barbecuing (or simply is a gourmet), start an herb garden for him. If he has one, add to it. Rosemary is one of the most popular herbs. With its fragrance, leaves like small pine needles and pale blue flowers, it has a beauty all its own. The same can be said for all varieties of marjoram.

SOME of the other herbs which Dad will appreciate for use as seasoning for salads, casseroles, and meats include parsley, chive, thyme, garlic, and sage. These are obtainable as established plants at C.A.N. nurseries. For summer drinks, mint is a rampant grower.

And speaking of drinks, one of the numerous varieties of citrus trees growing in containers at C.A.N. nurseries can provide him with a delectable treat for years to come. A fine winter orange for home plantings is Robertson Navel, while Valencia Orange is summer ripening. Both of these varieties are popular for providing sweet, plentiful juice.

If Dad is partial to lemonade or limeade or likes a tang in other drinks, he will especially appreciate a lemon or lime in a decorative tub for the patio. Meyer dwarf lemon is ideal for such a gift, because besides being exceedingly decorative (with lovely, fragrant blossoms) it has high quality fruit. Rangpur Lime is also an attractive citrus plant with pure white, perfumed blooms and top quality limes.

FOR DAD'S den or office desk, there is an indoor plant to fit any budget. The youngster with a limited allowance will make a big show with a pot of philodendron or ivy succulent. Potted gloxinia, hydrangea, or chrysanthemum in bloom will be sure to brighten his room. For the lanai, anthurium will provide spectacular color with its tropical looking blooms and dark green arrow-shaped leaves. Rubber plants, difenbachia, or room-tolerant orchids may suit his fancy — and your pocketbook!

The best way to shop for Dad is to browse through a C.A.N. nursery. You will find countless plants growing in containers which will serve as a constant reminder to Dad of your growing admiration for him.

A Garden Pond Is Refreshing, Needs Little Care

No matter how small, a garden pond lends a refreshing touch to the entire landscape. It also gives the gardener an opportunity to grow aquatic and waterside plants.

Once the planting is done, there's not much maintenance for the pond gardener, according to the California Association of Nurserymen, since weeds are practically non-existent and insect pests few.

EXQUISITE, fragile looking water liles come in a wide range of flower colors (some are changeable), sizes, and are often fragrant. Planting in individual containers of rot-resistant wood makes for easier manipulation. Mix soil with manure and a little bone meal; then spread sand or gravel over top to aid in keeping water clear.

Other ideal aquatic plants are reeds. A few which will thrive in either a sunny or shady exposure are Egyptian papyrus, horsetail reed, and umbrella plant.

Egyptian papyrus reaches a height of six feet—topped by a spreading umbel of thread-like rays. Horsetail reed has a picturesque, grass-like beauty. It's interestingly jointed to offer a unique tropical effect. Umbrella plant, a more dwarf member of the paper-reed family, grows to approximately three feet. The common name is appropos since its deep green stems are topped with an umbrella-like crown of broad-bladed, grassy leaves.

TO GIVE color to the edge of the pond, try the blues of prolific forget-me-nots; or clumps of alyssum in white, violet, or pink; or the vivid hues of creeping phlox. Japanese and Siberian Iris and Yellow Flags are three of the many taller plants which make choice waterside plantings.

One shrub which is a "natural" is Rise Mallow Hibiscus, a native swamp plant, with its giant flowers of white, pink, or red. Of course, the C.A.N. stresses the fact that if all of their other cultural requirements are met, most any plant of your choosing can go into the pondside landscape.

The ripple of running water adds charm and cooling effect. This explains the popularity of the artificial tiered waterfalls found at many C.A.N. nurseries. It may be installed easily beside the pond or in its own setting.

CAREFUL

Walk carefully along the highway and you can get yourself killed, warns the National Automobile Club.

June's Heat Is Ideal Time to Plant Dichondra

Gardeners should check the following items this week:

June is an ideal month to put in dichondra, because this dense ground-cover thrives in heat. For quickest coverage, buy dichondra in flats and divide into small clumps. Plant as close together as the C.A.N. nurseryman recommends for the total area you wish to cover.

Fuchsias planted now in hanging baskets will provide decorative relief this summer for porches and patios. Two or three plants to a basket offer best show of color.

Remove side branches from tomato plants to conserve plant strength for the fruit on main stem.

Cut off the old flowering spikes of delphinium, and they'll bloom again in the fall.

Cushion chrysanthemums planted now (from flats) will make a low-growing, early-blooming, gay summer to fall border. Keep the new plants well-watered and shaded from hottest sun until established.

DR. MARVIN A. Epstein of Alamo, re-elected president of the County Heart Association at the eighth annual meeting, receives congratulations of volunteers, left to right, Mrs. John F. Bauer, Mrs. W. B. Marschner, treasurer and Mrs. C. C. Willert, chairman of Volunteer Committee, all of Walnut Creek. Other officers elected were Dr. Irving Fine, Pleasant Hill, vice president; and Mrs. J. H. Schwarck, Orinda, secretary.

Outstanding Artists Will Be on Display June 26

Twenty-one ranking Bay Area artists will be represented in the gala Art and Garden Show June 26 by the Valley Art Center in the gardens of the Peter Howard residence at 2385 Walnut Boulevard, Walnut Creek.

The show will feature art in contemporary materials and promises to be of great interest not only to art lovers but to interior decorators, amateur and professional, for most of the works shown are intended to be integral parts of a modern home as screens, dividers, or wall panels.

Additional artist-exhibitors announced this week by Mrs. Parker Stack, exhibition chairman, are the following:

From Oakland, Martin Metal has promised the exhibit of a stained wooden screen as well as the metal sculptures for which he is well known.

IN THE GROUP of San Francisco artists, Mark Adams will exhibit a tapestry of glowing color in wool. Elio Benvenuto is sending a cement sculpture. And Mel Fowler, another San Francisco sculptor, will be represented by a work in vividly enameled metal.

Emmy Lou Packard will send from the city an unusual glass table top in which a design of the constellations is worked in plastic and glass threads, as well as a cement wall panel.

Marin County artists will be represented by Raymond Rice of San Rafael, a sculptor who works in stone, plastics, glass and metal, and by Mary Lindheim of Sausalito who will show a ceramic screen.

Vaillancourt, noted Canadian artist, will present the show with one of its most impressive exhibits, a wood hanging, burnt by torch from a log.

FIVE CONTRA COSTA artists will participate in the Valley Art Center show. Penny Kermit will show stitchery and applique; Theodosia Gardner is to exhibit painted tapestry window panels; and Helen Kilpatrick is sending a plaster relief of foxes.

All three are Orinda residents. Vesta Vetter of Lafayette is weaving a rug for the show. From Concord Jack Biedermann will present a metal and wood screen.

In addition to the professional show on the main terrace, Mrs. Howard is arranging an advanced student exhibit of mosaics in the side garden. Here Nancy Andrews, mosaic artist of Lafayette is setting up an exhibit of tools used in this medium and a display of mosaics in different stages of completion to illustrate methods used.

VISITORS WHO VIEW this stimulating show of California art will also have an opportunity to sample California's finer vintages in a wine-tasting especially arranged for the afternoon by Christian Brothers.

Tickets for the Art and Garden Show which will be open from 4 to 7:30 may be obtained by writing Mrs. Mackenzie Porter of 4015 Happy Valley Road, Lafayette. All donations will go into the fund for a permanent home for the Valley Art Center.

Orinda Legion Nine Hopes for Big Win Tomorrow

TWO NEW trophies adorn the mantel of Leroy Middlekauff home in Lafayette as the result of the State Bowman's Tournament in Los Angeles late last month. Mrs. Middlekauff shows her son Mark the kind of shooting which won her the state title in the women's 125 bare bow class. Mark is no softie at the archer's game, either—he placed seventh in the intermediate class at the state meet.

Trophies for the Home...

By ERWIN MATTSON

Leroy Middlekauff, his wife June and son Mark live at 1005 Almanor Lane in Lafayette, and from the way things are going they are either going to have to move to a larger house or add a room for the simple reason they all are trophy collectors by virtue of their athletic abilities.

June has put a pair of new trophies on the mantel in the past two weeks.

ON MAY 28 AND 29 she competed in the State Bowmen's Tournament and walked off with the first place trophy in the women's 125 bare bow class. In this time of shooting no sights are used and as the "shooters" put it, it's best described as "instinctive shooting."

The meet held at Griffith Park in Los Angeles found June down 20 points and in first place at the end of the first day's trials.

The next and final day she took a hitch in her belt and went to work as she let fly with unerring accuracy to wind up with the state title by a lone point.

Three hundred sixteen qualified for the state meet through the state's various area meets and the finals found five classes in both men's and women's divisions based on the scores each made as rated by the national association from scores turned in in three club meets.

SON MARK wound up seventh in the state meet in the intermediate class and along with June has a number of medals and trophies from numerous meets.

The Middlekauffs got into the bow and arrow game only a year ago this June when Leroy and Mark joined up in the Lafayette Youth Association program held at Acalanes High under the auspices of the Diablo Bowmen.

June decided she wasn't going to be a bow and arrow widow and soon joined up on her own.

She is a natural competitor and is at her best when the blue chips are down. One of her other activities is driving an Acalanes District school bus and last year she won first place in the California State Employees Association drivers' rodeo which marked her as first in Northern California bus driving skill.

IN 1945 SHE worked for Standard Oil in Richmond and won the top spot in their tennis tournament.

Leroy might well have been in the state bow tournament, but the trials fell on the day trout season opened and he chose the fishing and proved to be a champ there when he came home with the limit.

He does have his share of trophies to show for his athletic prowess in the form of numerous golf awards. He had a hole-in-one at Mira Vista to fulfill the ambition of every club swinger and in addition won tournament titles at Mira Vista and Alameda with appropriately engraved awards attesting to the fact.

Currently all three are active in the Diablo Bowmen and just last week June proved to be a winner again as she moved up to the 175 score class and won in a meet held at Vallejo.

MARK AND JUNE both compete on the exhibitive team which put on numerous displays throughout the area with their accurate as well as trick shooting.

It's a busy family but one that is congenial and happy with their many mutual interests, and the biggest problem is where to put those new trophies which come with such frequency and rapidity.

If you hear Leroy yelling "fore" give instant heed lest you get pinned with an arrow.

Guisto Award Is Won by Baljevich At St. Mary's

The Louis Guisto Award, commemorative of one of St. Mary's greatest athletes, was awarded at a commencement breakfast at St. Mary's Saturday to George Baljevich.

Baljevich, a graduating senior from Oakland, has won varsity letters in both basketball and baseball.

Inscription on the plaque upon which Baljevich's name will appear reads:

"To the graduating senior most outstanding for his arduous example of leadership manifesting the true spirit of St. Mary's College.

Presentation, traditionally made to an athlete, was made by athletic director James Weaver.

New Owner Is Named By Raiders

Wallace A. Marsh, prominent Bay Area industrialist who lives at 17 Dias Dorados, Orinda, has joined the Oakland Raider professional football team as a full director.

Marsh, whose ownership in the Raiders dates back to last month, will have full voting privileges and act in the position of a co-owner, according to the announcement by Raider President and General Manager Y. C. (Chet) Soda.

President and chief executive officer of the Permanente Cement Company and its subsidiaries, Marsh thus becomes the seventh owner of the new American Football League entry. He joins Edward McGah as the second owner living in Orinda.

The new owner is married and has three children.

Fertilization By Air Is Used

An unusual form of fertilibation was employed by the Round Hill Country Club Tuesday morning as eight tons of ammonium nitrate was applied on the new golf course by cropduster.

The cropduster, belonging to Atwood Cropdusting Servcie of Danville, was piloted by Don Price, also of Danville, as nearly 100 acres of the new course were covered by the fertilizer.

Ray McCoy, manager of the club, said the usual method of fertilizing by the use of heavy trucks and other equipment would have torn up the turf on the course, which will open September 1.

In addition, McCoy stated, the new method took only about four hours, while the heavy equipment would have taken considerably longer.

RESIDENTS FROM throughout the central county were among the almost 400 guests at the Round Hill Country Club's first "sprouting outing" held recently. Here John Sparrowk (standing), president of the new Alamo club, greets Kermit Lincoln (right) of Lafayette and Mrs. Lincoln, as Harlan Geldermann of Danville, director of the club, looks on. The outing gave the club's first 100 members and their guests the opportunity to see the golf course for the first time. Play is expected to begin on the course about September 1. —Sun photo.

Third Place Orindans to Battle Unbeaten Martinez

Martinez has a 4-0 record and the top spot all to themselves in the Eastern division of the Junior Legion baseball standings, as over the weekend they notched a pair of clear cut wins—waxing Rodeo, 10-2, Friday night and trimming Lafayette, 5-1, Sunday.

Saturday games found Lafayette edging Walnut Creek in a loosely played game at the Walnut Creek Recreation Park, which went 10 innings before being decided with a 5-4 score.

Lafayette took a 1-0 first inning lead only to have it tied up 1-1 when the home club scored in the third frame and then Walnut Creek took the lead with another run in the fourth.

LAFAYETTE PRODUCED two more runs in the eighth and it was 4-4 at the end of the regulation nine innings.

Lafayette iced the contest in the tenth when Tom Strain drew a base on balls to be sacrificed to second by John Jones from where he scored on Don Nelson's single.

Batteries: Lafayette, Strain, Toll (1) and Felex, Kosack (6). Walnut Creek: Just, Remy (2) and Howerton, Stephenson (4).

THE OTHER Saturday game found Concord outhitting Orinda, 12-3, while outscoring them, 14-4. Concord had a big inning in the fourth when they scored six runs. The Concord nine wound up with seven errors to Orinda's five.

Batteries: Concord, Midland and Piscovich; Orinda, Thomas, Peter (7) and Tobias, Fallentine (6).

Sunday's games found Orinda bouncing back for a win as they outlasted Rodeo, 11-7, in a slugfest that found the winners collecting 14 safe blows to the losers' 13. Rodeo committed six boots to Orinda's three.

Orinda took a 4-1 first inning lead and were never headed after making it 6-2 at the end of two.

RANDY THAMAN was the big stick for Orinda with a perfect 4 for 4 on three singles and a double while teammate Vic Clarke had 4 for 5 with a single, pair of doubles and a triple to show for his efforts.

Batteries: Rodeo, Jennings, Ardissone (2), Ross (8) and Martin, Crow (8). Orinda, Tonascia and Tobias.

In Sunday's play Concord edged Walnut Creek, 7-6, while outhitting them, 11-10. Concord was also away ahead in the error department, 8-2.

The Walnut nine were off to a good start when Roger Guichard homered in the first with one on and looked to be on their way as they held a 5-1 lead at the end of four, only to split at the seams as the Concord club tallied two runs in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

Batteries: Walnut Creek, Just, Oxley (4), Remy (6) and Stephenson, Howerton (5). Concord, Bankhead, Armstrong (4) and Piscovich.

MARTINEZ, playing at home, kept their fans happy as they stayed in the undefeated class with a 5-1 win over the traveling Lafayette team.

They scored twice in the opening frame along with one in the sixth and another pair in the seventh to notch the win. Lafayette's lone counter came in the third when Don Nelson singled to score Tom Strain from second.

The winners' ace southpaw Bud Nelson proved effective as he limited the losers to three hits while striking out seven.

Batteries: Martinez, Nelson and Quontamatteo; Lafayette, Jones, Allen (7), Strain (7) and Felix, Kosack (7).

EASTERN DIVISION standings to date are as follows:

Martinez: 4 wins, 0 losses; Concord, 2 wins, 1 loss; Orinda, 2 wins, 2 losses; Walnut Creek, 1 win, 3 losses; Lafayette, 1 win, 3 losses; Rodeo, 1 win, 4 losses.

In the western division games, results over the weekend were as follows:

San Pablo 7, Richmond 6; El Cerrito 20, North Richmond 2; Richmond 9, El Sobrante 8, San Pablo 10, North Richmond 2.

STANDINGS in the western division: San Pablo, 3 wins, 1 loss; El Sobrante, 2 wins, 1 loss; El Cerrito, 2 wins, 1 loss; Richmond, 3 wins, 2 losses; North Richmond, 0 wins, 2 losses.

Games on tap this weekend call for play Saturday with Orinda at Martinez, Concord at Lafayette, Walnut Creek at Rodeo, El Cerrito at San Pablo and El Sobrante at North Richmond.

On Sunday it's El Sobrante at Orinda, Richmond at Rodeo, Walnut Creek at El Cerrito, Lafayette at North Richmond and Concord at San Pablo.

Fish, Game Commission Tells 1960 Game Seasons

The California Fish and Game Commission recently adopted the 1960 game seasons, bag limits and regulations, with only minor changes from last year.

A general regulation stressed by the commission states that shooting from any type of motor driven vehicle, or vehicle being pulled or pushed by a motor driven vehicle, is prohibited.

THE SEASONS will be as follows:

Deer—Early season: August 6 through September 25; late season: September 23 through November 6. The commission had earlier announced its intention to adopt a late season running September 17 through October 30, but made the switch because of high fire hazards.

Bag and possession limits would remain the same as last year — two bucks per year in the coastal area or one per year in the late area.

BEAR — Seasons open with the deer season in the same area and close January 15. Same bag limits as in 1959.

Archery—Early season for deer and bear: July 23 through August 1; late season September 10 through September 19.

Pheasants—November 12 to 27 statewide, a 6-day season; November 12 to 21 in the Etiwanda and Morena cooperative hunting areas (in the south); November 12 to December 1 in the Imperial and eastern Riverside area.

Bag and possession limits same as last year — two birds, either sex, per day, 10 per season, in Southern California counties; and elsewhere two birds, male only, per day, on November 12 and 13, four per day therafter during the season, with a season bag limit of 10.

QUAIL—November 12 to January 2 in southern counties; October 29 to December 15 in northeastern counties; and October 29 to January 2 in the balance of the state. Bag and possession limits, except for northeastern California, will be eight daily and in possession.

Special additional mountain quail only—October 1 to October 9 in the same area as last year, adding Tehama County east of the Sacramento River. Bag and possession limits will be six daily and in possession.

Chukar partridge — November 12 to January 2 in Southern California counties, October 29 to January 12 elsewhere. Bag and possession limits will be four per day and in possession.

SIERRA AND RUFFLED grouse—September 3 and 4 in the same Northern California counties as last year and October 1 to 9 in the same Central California counties as last year. Bag and possession limits will be two per season and in possession.

Rabbits—September 1 to January 2 in the same area as last year. Northeastern California closes December 15. The boundary in Lassen County will be Highway 36 and 395. Bag and possession limits: Five daily and in possession.

Shooting hours on resident small game: Same as last year, one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset, except during the pheasant season when the hours will be 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in Northern California males only counties.

OIL

American oilmen have to drill from 41,000 to 50,000 wells every year just to maintain the total oil producing capacity that existed as of January, 1957, reports the National Automobile Club.

Dad Will Like Those Summer-Time Fashions!

Your clothing gifts to Dad on Father's Day can serve the two-fold purpose of improving both his comfort and appearance.

The new clothing, furnishings and sportswear for summer 1960 are as easy on the eye as they are on the body and many of them have the added virtue of being easy to care of.

TAKE THE NEW tropic-weight suits, for instance. In addition to the traditional pure wool worsteds, these now are made in blends of man-made fibers with wool, man-made fibers with cotton, and blends of two or more of the test-tube yarns.

The new blends have improved "hand," that is—they feel better, they hold their press even when dampened by summer showers or humid weather, they shed unwanted wrinkles and many of the suits made of the new blends can be washed and worn without the need of pressing.

New soft olive shades supplement the traditional grays, blues, tans and browns. There are more plaid and check patterns in summer suits, too.

BRAND NEW featherweight sport jackets made of fabrics blended of wool or worsted with man-made fibers are equally as cool as the suits. These casual jackets will sport bold glen plaids, handsome district checks, and some will even be made of printed patterns.

Neat, conservative patterns and solid color jackets are very popular, too. Perhaps your Dad would like a lightweight solid color blazer in one of the new shades of blue, gray, green or black.

Cool, crisp slacks and walk shorts made of the new fabrics are just as popular in patterns as they are in the plain shades. If your Did is a golfer, get him a pair of the specially designed golf slacks.

LIGHTWEIGHT voiles, batistes, skipdents and lenos give a wide choice in the selection of summer business shirts.

Soft blues, tans, grays and greens supplement the traditional whites and you will find every collar style in the half-sleeved summer shirts.

Get a good assortment of sport shirts for Dad and Grand-dad. They will want bold patterns to wear with plain slacks and jackets, and plain colors to wear with their patterned outfits.

THE NEW summer straw hats make a dandy Father's Day gift, too. He may need a dressy sailor style sennit, or he may prefer one of the soft crushable straws. Among the other popular straws are milans, leghorns, coconuts, and ramies.

Religious Aid In Civil Defense Is Discussed

The first county-wide meeting to integrate a "Religious Affairs Service" with the County Civil Defense and Disaster organization was held recently in Martinez.

There was an orientation on Civil Defense on the national, state and local levels and the showing of the film "Time of Disaster." An advisory committee with representatives of all faiths, was formed.

Real Estate Viewpoints

Mix Business and Pleasure, Take a Look in the Country

IF YOU WANT TO HAVE SOME FUN THIS SUMMER . . . Mix a little business with pleasure and plan to look at some country or resort area REAL ESTATE while on your vacation. The desire to own a mountain retreat rests in the hearts of many of us yet we have not actually gone so far as to shop around for a hunk of hill country land or even a cabin site.

I'll admit it's a tough job to take care of your own home on the week-ends, let alone have a second place to worry about. However, buying a little place in the country is a wonderful way to save money, build another equity and to have a place to go with your kids and friends on these hot summer days. Within three hours of Contra Costa County there are a large number and varied style of places that you might like to consider for a summer campsite or lakeside boating headquarters. Here are a few to think about.

LAKE COUNTY . . . just 100 miles north thru Napa Valley offers the works . . . boats, fishing, hunting and many resorts ot visit. Cobb Mountain near Forest Lake and its very popular golf course is another Lake County area that you cannot helpj liking. Lots are available in this area for from $1000—up and cabins, too . . . from $5000.

LAKE TAHOE AREA . . . booming with a touch of Reno on the east, south and north shores . . . land prices have skyrocketed here . . . if this is your area . . . buy soon or be willing to pay high land prices. Snow sports abound here too . . . Squaw Valley and others. The altitude is about 5000 feet and clear, brisk and delightful.

SANTA CRUZ MOUNTAINS . . . Boulder Creek, Felton and Ben Lomond all in the heavy woods along the San Lorenzo River. You must visit the new Brookdale Lodge . . . a real experience, no less. Properties along this area which by the way is only a 30 minute drive to Santa Cruz and the beach and deep sea fishing and SUN burn . . . properties along here vary from $1500—up and a small cabin recently sold for $4750—three blocks from the river. Big Basin is another wonderful spot for the kids to see.

FEATHER RIVER AREA . . . east of Oroville has the finest fishing spots in California according to a very good friend of mine. Buck's Lake up toward the summit of the Sierra is terrific. Grayeagle . . . another old lumber town with lots of camping spots and recreation facilities, especially fishing at nearby Lake Almanor. Land here is still pretty raw . . .

Cabin sites as low as $700—out in the back country . . . pack your own water and cooking equipment . . . outhouses are correctly "in style" . . . the air is sweet and lovely . . . many small trout streams meander thru these wonderful hills.

RUSSIAN RIVER AREA . . . still a popular favorite for people of all ages . . . Monte Rio, Gurneyville, Healdsburg . . . all good and lots of cabins for sale . . . all sizes, shapes and forms . . . $4500 up and lots as low as $900—onlya few blocks from the center of things.

It's only a short run to the coast here too . . . Fort Ross a very fine historical place to take the kids. Bodega Bay just south of the mouth of the Russian River . . . Occidental, the old town . . . now a village full of wonderful Italian restaurants . . . where you can eat steadily of excellent food for $1.95 . . . believe it or try it yourself this summer.

NO MATTER WHERE YOU GO . . . there is land for sale . . . or a cabin to patch up . . . folks . . . you only live once . . . take my advice and make the most of it. Incidentally . . . your cabin, if you do buy one will almost pay for itself . . . most folks cannot use their place every weekend or all summer, for that matter . . . RENT it out to your friends or relatives . . . or list it for RENT with an agent (near by) . . . a few weekends or a full week here and there . . . summer or winter . . . weather permitting . . . will pay the taxes, upkeep and half of the monthly payments if you are buying on time . . . and most of us do buy . . . on time . . .

MY SUGGESTION IS THIS . . . Buy on a lake if you are lucky enough to find the place of your dreams so located . . . be sure to on a stream . . . if you can . . . but be sure it flows all year if that examine the title and buy title insurance when you do buy . . . Buy is your wish . . . Buy on a road that is weather proof . . . of of the ALL YEAR . . . type . . . or be willing to pack your gear in if the ruts are too deep in the winter. Buy a place with at least one tree.

County-wide Welfare Group Is Considered

Initiation of a countywide welfare council organization were proposed at the initial joint dinner meeting of the West, East and Central Community Welfare Councils, held in Walnut Creek last week.

Council Board members considered studies on proposed legislation affecting the aid-to-needy children program, countywide park and recreation needs, and the formation of a visiting nurse and homemaker service.

The group authorized the hiring of an intern this summer to collect information for these studies.

THE COUNTY Coordinating Committee, composed of members of each of the three Welfare Councils, was asked to prepare a specific proposal for a countywide Welfare Council organization.

It was suggested that the proposal include recommendations on allowing the county group to receive funds and to employ staff.

Host President Judge Wakefield Taylor of Martinez said, "If the proposed studies to be undertaken this summer prove successful, we will be providing a real service to our communities.

"There have been requests from both workers and community-minded citizens for some time for these three fields to be explored and implemented. The need has been with us for years and we have the responsibility to do something about it."

THE COUNTY Coordinating Committee is headed by Mrs. Harmon Howard. Members are Mrs. Lee Kidwell of Walnut Creek, Mrs. Lucille Laird of Bradford Island, Leo Lopes of Pittsburg, Reverend R. Richard Foe of Pittsburg, Mrs. Norman Sundborg of Antioch, and Mrs. John C. Taylor of Danville.

Stamp Club Picnic Is Sunday

The Diablo Valley Stamp Club will hold a joint picnic with the East Bay Collectors Club, Sunday noon, at Castle Rock Park.

The members will hear a speaker at their meeting next Thursday, and will hear Merv Hershberg of the East Bay Collectors Club, July 28. A meeting will also be held July 14.

The members will exhibit their collections at the Walnut Festival, September 22 to 25.

Their collections will be shown with the Gun Club and the Gem and Mineral Society.

The Diablo Valley Club meets each second and fourth Thursday at the Pleasant Hill Recreation Center, Oak Park and Pleasant Hill Roads.

Many Newcomers Are 'Furriners'

Between 180 and 200 persons moving to Contra Costa each year are not only newly arrived in the county but also newly arrived in the United States.

"They come from countries all over the world," explained County Superintendent Floyd Marchus. His office is notified so that the new residents may be encouraged to study citizenship.

Dr. Marchus said 15 to 17 notices per month are sent by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, United States Department of Justice.

The names and addresses of the immigrants are forwarded by the county office to evening school directors in charge of citizenship training classes.

Contra Costa County's new cosmopolitan population comes largely from Holland and Italy.

Other countries of origin are Mexico and Canada, Japan, England, France, Germany and the Scandinavian nations.

More than 175 million motor vehicles have been produced in the United States since 1896, reports the National Automobile Club.

Children's Coop Society Seeks New Members

The membership drive for the Children's Cooperative Art Association is now in progress. Classes that will begin in September are being organized.

Enrollment in the after-school art classes is limited to fourth, fifth and sixth grade children who are interested in the fine arts, with emphasis on drawing and painting.

Third grade children may join if openings occur.

The classes meet once a week after school and are taught by artists.

New sponsors and adult members are welcome to join the group in order to assist in the valuable cultural project.

Signups may be made through the membership chairman of the school which the child is presently attending.

Twelve schools in the Lafayette and Walnut Creek area are participating at present and new schools may secure a teacher if enrollment is sufficient.

Bond Issues Follow State Averages

Voters in Contra Costa County school districts approved 76 per cent of the bond issues proposed between 1954 and 1960—a figure identical with that for school districts statewide during the same interval.

In the county there were 34 bond elections, of which 26 were successful, said County Superintendent Floyd Marchus.

Elementary school districts were somewhat less successful than at the state level, but high school and unified were more successful.

The figures, reports Dr. Marchus, are as follows: Contra Costa elementary districts, 77 per cent successful vs. 80 per cent statewide; Contra Costa high school districts, 67 per cent successful vs. 64 per cent statewide; and Contra Costa unified districts, 83 per cent vs. 67 per cent statewide.

Dr. Marchus quoted a state report as finding that "since the 1954-55 school year, the percentage of successful bond issue elections has consistently dropped."

Passage of bond issues declined from 83 per cent that year to 67 per cent in the fall semester of 1959-60.

Contra Costa County's peak year of school bond issues was 1955-56, during which 15 elections were held and all but two were successful.

The 13 bond issues represented $18,320,000.

One proposed issue of $500,000 failed twice.

By contrast, only three of nine proposals passed in 1959-60, representing $3,725,000, of which $2,350,000 is in state loans and only $1,375,000 in local bonds.

The defeated issues totaled $24,950,000, plus a proposed $8,000,000 state loan.

Local School Bus Drivers Named as Roadeo Winners

Four school bus drivers in the Acalanes Union High School Distract and five in the Mt. Diablo School District have been announced as winners of the eighth annual Northern California School Bus Roadeo, held recently at the Hayward Airport.

First places were won by Pearl Bancroft, Acalanes, and Kenneth Gilliam, Elsie Spencer, James Phan and Willa Barry, all Mt. Diablo.

Other winners were Gerry Johnson, Mt. Diablo, and Cecelia Browning, Acalanes, second place; and Agnes Summers, Acalanes, fourth place.

The drivers, both men and women, competed by matching their professional driving skills and knowledge of safety. The event is sponsored annually by the California School Employees' Association to give recognition to these drivers who transport students to and from school.

Organizations which cooperated with the sponsor in conducting the roadeo were the California Highway Patrol, California State Automobile Association, Hayward Police Department, bus manufacturers and the Northern California chapters of the National Safety Council.
